Are you thinking about a doctoral degree in Clinical Psychology?
Do you want to learn more?

Underrepresented Student Visit Day

Department of Psychology, University of Virginia

This event is for research-oriented, junior and senior undergraduate students (and recent graduates) from underrepresented groups (e.g., students who identify as an ethnic/racial minority, or first in family to attend college) who want to learn more about clinical psychology graduate school and the Psychology Department at UVA.

Accepted students will have their travel, meal, and hotel costs covered to spend the day visiting the department on April 15th, 2016.

The visit will include:

- individual and small group meetings with professors to discuss students’ intellectual interests
- attending research presentations and lab meetings
- information on applying to graduate school, funding opportunities, mentoring, and student life
- information session with the Director of Diversity and Inclusion and the Director of Clinical Training
- networking with current graduate students

To apply: students should send:

1) 1-2 paragraphs describing their research interests and experience, and explaining why they want to attend the Visit Day
2) an unofficial copy of their transcript
3) their CV or resume
3) 1 letter of recommendation that speaks to their capacity for graduate study in clinical psychology (letter writers can submit their letter directly to psychology@virginia.edu)

Please submit all materials by email to psychology@virginia.edu

Deadline: Applications are due February 19th, 2016.

Questions? Email Dr. Bethany Teachman, Professor and Director of Clinical Training, at bat5x@virginia.edu.
